USE BARB WIRE TO TANGLE SINN FEINERS

(United Press)

Dublin, Feb. 18.—A great man hunt was in full swing in Dublin today.

The whole section of the city on the north side was cut off by troops who were rushed there in armoured cars.

Throughout the early morning the neighborhood was awakened by the roaring of the motors and the thump of gun butts against barred doors and shouts of command.

There were various rumors as to the identity of the Sinn Fein plot, but it was generally understood that General Michael Collins of the Irish republican army, was hidden in the vicinity. Collins who was recently reported killed in battle but reappeared shortly afterward and was reported to have entered Dublin for counsel of war.

Upon arriving in the district in motor lorries the police leaped from their cars, unrolled barbed wire and constructed entanglements at all street openings. Armed cars were driven through the area. There were powerful searchlights on the cars to throw rays on houses undergoing a search. Hints were given that the district would be isolated for a considerable time.

An official report today told of the killing of four Sinn Fein sentries at Kilbrittan. A military patrol was said to have surprised the pickets following an exchange of shots.

EXPLAINING THINGS

Each Member of Musical Club Urged to Dispose of One Ticket to a Friend or Husband

Some confusion seems to have arisen in the minds of members of the Musical Club over the sale of tickets for the Berger concert on Sunday. All members were asked to come to the regular club meeting last Saturday prepared to take a ticket to sell for this concert and several members have interpreted this to mean that they will be required to sell one ticket each.

This rule of the club was abandoned years ago, but each member is urged to persuade friend or husband to buy a ticket in order to prove by the box receipts that it pays to bring good musical attractions to Brainerd, and also in order that said friend or husband may not miss a rare treat.

The committee in charge of the ticket sale are Mrs. W. A. Erickson and Mrs. C. G. Nordin. Any one may secure tickets by telephoning these ladies.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

More lumbermen are wearing Goodrich Rubber Footwear today than ever before.

The reason for this tremendous increase in users is simple—Goodrich wears longer than other footwear, and lumbermen have found it out. Naturally, when a man buys a pair of Goodrich "Hi-Press" and they last so much longer and are so much more comfortable, and so materially cut down that big footwear bill—he's going to tell his friends.

More and more lumbermen are finding out that Goodrich won't leak, peel or come apart—it can't, for it is made in One Solid Piece—that's the Goodrich way.

Look for the Red Line 'round the Top when you buy. 60,000 dealers are now selling Goodrich.

Miss Ruth Moody, Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moody, English Teacher in Porto Rico

DESCRIBES HER EXPERIENCES

Great Need of Schools in the Island. Sometimes Only Oldest of Family Gets Schooling

Miss Ruth Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moody, in a letter home describes incidents and scenes in Porto Rico, where she is teaching English in the college of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts. Miss Moody makes her home in Mayaguez. She writes as follows:

On his second trip to the New World, Columbus came upon an island which the natives called "Borinquen." The little town of Aguada on the north coast claims the honor of having been his landing place. Although he stayed but a short time and never returned, Juan Ponce de Leon, a member of his party, was so impressed with the richness and fertility of the island that, in 1508, he led an expedition that eventually founded the present city of Ponce, and brought the beginning of Spanish dominion. Today Porto Rico, flying the United States flag from all its government buildings is nevertheless decidedly un-American in every respect; everything still bears the mark of Spain.

Porto Rico has three chief cities, one on each of three sides of the island: San Juan, the capital, a city of 55,000; Ponce, and Mayaguez, which is slowly recovering from an earthquake of two years ago. The one story houses are pink and green and blue with red roofs; they are built right next to the street, with the patios or yards concealed in the rear. The narrow, winding streets are filled with old world sights and sounds; native farmers drive teams of sleepy oxen to the markets, their merchandise piled high in two wheel carts; here and there a grown person or child goes his way, balancing on his head a basket often heavily laden; little mountain horses carry their burdens in panniers on either side; in the morning one often sees one pig or a dozen being lead on the end of a cord; I have often seen a cock tied by a cord to his master's toe; here and there goats eat up the orange skins from the gutters. Street vendors are numerous, some with their little carts stationed on a corner, others crying their wares through the streets, most often fruits or cakes, or carbon, or maybe laces and dry goods. The latter are usually carried on the head in a large flat basket. Everywhere are the street beggars, for the most part cripples.

Each city or town, however small it may be, has its plaza or square with the church at one end and the stores around the streets that border the other three sides. In this plaza the people gather in the evenings to promenade or listen to the band. The people are friendly, hospitable, happy and gay, with a love of color and music characteristic, I suppose, of all Latin races. Too great a percentage of the people are deplorably poor, and live huddled together on the outskirts of the towns and in the country districts in palm-thatched huts, perched up on posts to keep the rats out. There is not enough work for all the people of the island in spite of the sugar, tobacco, and coffee plantations.

Most of the Americans live in San Juan, a beautiful suburb of San Juan, in which live also Europeans and some wealthy Porto Ricans. There are about a hundred Americans all told in Mayaguez and fewer in Ponce; while in many towns there are only one or two families or none at all. Spanish is still the universal language, although English is being taught now in the schools. The school buildings have all been built in the last twenty years and are most artistic. There is not enough schools or teachers for all the children, and sometimes only the oldest child from a family is allowed to attend. The University of Porto Rico is located in San Juan with the College of Agriculture in Mayaguez. Many of the teachers are Porto Ricans who have been educated in the States.

The principal cities are connected by a railroad which runs practically around the island, but the fine roads make the automobile travel more enjoyable. The Spaniards built the roads four hundred years ago, and the sugar centrals have seen to it that they have been kept up. Guaguas ply regularly between towns several times a day, and they are always crowded.

The scenery along the carreteras is wonderful, for the island is mountainous, and the roads wind in and out so that at times one can see two or three tiers of the same road below and another stretch on the mountain side across a narrow valley. From the high points one catches glimpses of the sea, for the island is only about forty miles wide by a hundred miles long. In going across the island from Arceibo to Ponce, we descended four times to ford the river. The carretera between those two points follows the river, which, being full of stones, has many pretty cascades. The vegetation is naturally heavy; ferns abound, some being in the form of trees about the size of banana trees. Just now in December the oranges are at their height and hang on the trees along the roads like big golden balls. Here and there is a royal palm, but the coconut palms are all on the sea coast, where they are most picturesque, especially when the moon shines through them on to the water. At every little mountain stream the women can be seen washing and spreading their clothes to dry on the stones or bushes. In a few places the carreteras are bordered with bamboo, which is very soft and

WM. V. TURCOTTE
Exalted Ruler Brainerd Lodge of Elks

One of the greatest nights in the history of Elksdom in Brainerd, is the general verdict covering the ceremonies held Thursday evening, February 17, when a class of 70 was initiated.

District Dep. Grand Exalted Ruler A. R. Robert of Crookston, voiced his appreciation of progress attained during the incumbency of William V. Turcotte, present Exalted Ruler of Brainerd lodge.

Brainerd, said Mr. Robert, has made about the best record of any lodge in the northern jurisdiction, wrestling such honors from many larger towns. So far Brainerd's membership increase has amounted to 170 and still rising.

He complimented the lodge on feathery looking. Along the Carretera Central between San Juan and Ponce are many flamboyant trees, which must be a gorgeous sight when they are a mass of red blossoms. The rose is really the flower of Porto Rico, for it blossoms all the year around in all colors and varieties. With continual summer, fruits, flowers, and the sea, the island of Porto Rico itself is a Paradise.

There is much of historical interest besides the landing place of Columbus. Ponce, the seeker for eternal youth, is said to have built Casa Blanca in San Juan for his home—a low white building which still looks out over the sea from the midst of the palms and gardens. Parts of the old wall around San Juan are still standing as is the fortress of San Cristobal Coame Springs, near Ponce, is the Fountain of Youth that Ponce de Leon never found, and near Ponce lies the original of Stevenson's "Treasure Island."

Harry A. Franck has a new book called "Through the West Indies" (Century Company) which contains three very interesting chapters on Porto Rico.

starting its campaign for an Elks home. He praised the officers for the splendid manner in which the ritual had been exemplified, rendering it most impressive and appealing.

He had extensive praise for the Past Exalted Rulers Fred L. Sanborn, R. R. Gould, J. J. Nolan who devoted time and energy assisting the lodge in ritualistic and other work.

To the new members he called particular attention to the lectures given by the various chair officers. The beauty of the Elks' ritual was one which grew the more it was studied and exemplified.

St. Cloud Elks Quartet

The St. Cloud Elks quartet won the highest praise for the brilliant manner in which the singers embellished the ritualistic work with their songs. It gave a new meaning to the ritual. Applause was frequent. They were in splendid voice and gave many encores. The members of the quartet are Don Freeman, M. L. Cole, Paul Cook and Dan Huslam. Their pianist is Hal Ervin. The district deputy ty, A. R. Robert extended them an invitation to visit Crookston lodge.

Mr. Freeman spoke words of praise for Brainerd's quartet and has supplied them with music for the ritual.

State Convention

Don Freeman, president of the State Elks Association, extended an invitation to Brainerd lodge to attend the state convention in St. Cloud August 24, 25 and 26. All indications pointed to the largest state gathering in the history of the order in Minnesota. From 5,000 to 7,000 Elks are expected. There will be a dozen bands in the parade, which from present reports will take an hour and a half to pass a given point. St. Cloud invited Brainerd Elks, their wives and families and friends to attend.

St. Cloud Lodge

James R. Jerrard, Exalted Ruler of St. Cloud lodge, extended greetings from the St. Cloud lodge. He praised the ritualistic work as exemplified in Brainerd and was pleased to see what an impression the St. Cloud quartet had made.

Committees

The special committee having charge of additional work for candidates included Eugene White, chairman, Herbert Peterson, Walter P. Kunitz of Brainerd and George Ridley of Ironton.

The house committee, attended to securing the lunch and had charge of many other arrangements. On the house and social committee are Fred L. Sanborn, chairman, A. P. Drogseth, W. J. Lyonais, Axel Fall and Charles Stadlbauer.

All in Full Dress

All officers of Brainerd lodge were in full dress and wearing new lodge jewels. Every officer had his ritual letter perfect.

The special committee introduced many new stunts which kept the large class busy and provided no end of excitement, fully satisfying the large delegation from the range towns present. The list of visiting Elks was a large one, six being present from St. Cloud, ten from Little Falls, some from North and South Dakota, Michigan and other states.

Elks Home

S. F. Alderman of the building committee, explained the Elks home project and how it was to be financed and pledge cards were circulated. Interest is growing and there is now no doubt that the home will be financed and construction started by next year.

M. Maren of Gull Lake also spoke on the home question and urged all Elksdom of the jurisdiction to back undertaking.

After Initiation

After initiation the lunch was served and many stayed until an early hour of the morning in the club rooms where members of the Pars theatre orchestra played.

Isador Berger

Isador Berger, a well known violinist, will appear in concert at the New Park theatre on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 20, at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Ladies' Musical club.

The violin used by Mr. Berger is a "Jas. Guarnerius" 1706, from the Wuritzer collection, Chicago, and is valued at $5,000.

Maurice Rosenfeld of the Chicago Daily News, says: "Isador Berger proved himself a musician of admirable attainments and a performer equipped with technical adroitness. His tone is fine and pure and his interpretative powers are adequate".

Farnsworth Wright, of "Musical America", writes: "The melting, luscious tone he drew from the strings could be produced only by a true genius".

Felix Borowski of the Chicago Herald writes: "Of his gifts there can be no doubt".

THE PIANIST-STATESMAN

Ignace Paderewski, the great Polish pianist, arrived in New York recently. He has not come to reap fresh honors at the piano, but to address some of the Polish societies in this country and then to rest. "Piano playing," he says, "is a closed chapter in my life." When it is remembered that piano playing was his life, the remark attains new significance.

When the war broke out Paderewski gave up his career as a musician and returned to Poland to fight for and with his people. The great war which saw many sacrifices saw few, perhaps, more noteworthy than this. Great artists are scarce. Because of their gifts they are usually considered exempt from the claims which fall necessarily upon lesser men. If Paderewski had chosen to stay in America, delighting audiences with his music and sending only money to his people, there would have been little criticism. But the part he chose was infinitely nobler.

Even if Paderewski had gained no fame in his new role, it would have made little difference in the world's moral estimate of the man. It was enough that one who led the world in his own line took all he had and gave it to his country. But the artist achieved the miracle of making for himself a name as a leader of men. He won an honored place in the councils of European governments. It was chiefly he who created the modern free Poland.

It need detract nothing from any fair estimate of his worth that the ungrateful Poles finally repudiated him and turned to other leadership—the people have done that since the armistice in almost every country that was involved in the war. It would be well for Poland and for Europe if the pianist statesman were in power at Warsaw again.

THE STYLE IS THE MAN

(Delphine De Girardin)

Every book written by a woman bears the mark of affection by which it was inspired. It is of works of women, particularly, that one may say with Buffon: "the style is the man."

If every nation would find something nice to say about every other nation, and something to trust and rely upon, instead of giving so much emphasis to undesirable traits, it would advance peace faster than anything else.

An onion grower announces that a craze for onions has developed with prohibition. Here is the long sought proof that prohibition makes for a stronger nation.

"How do you look upon money?" the way Moses looked upon the Promised Land.

Henry Ford foresees a day when cows won't be needed any more. They won't, either, if men don't stop making war pretty soon.

President Wilson recently referred to a certain man as a "bungalow," having no upper story whatever. Ah, yes, but even the humblest bungalow may have a good cellar.

The vice president's salary is to be $3,999 a year more than formerly. One of these days it may almost pay a man to be vice president.

"Calves Higher"—headline. Probably gone up after the skirts.

"As Fine as Silk." Some New York merchants were gathered around a luncheon table "talking shop." A silk merchant admitted conditions with him were "rotten" following which his right-hand neighbor, a leather dealer, remarked that his business was "as fine as silk." —Boston News Bureau.

MUSKRAT BAN IS LIFTED

Preus Revokes Order on Closed Season in Some Counties—Crow Wing County Not Open

Revocation of an order of former Governor Burnquist, which provided a closed season on muskrats in certain counties in Southern Minnesota, was made by Governor Preus, on recommendations of the State Game and Fish commission.

In recommending that the order be annulled, the game and fish commission stated that a closed season is unnecessary in thirteen of the counties, as the muskrats have become so numerous that they are destructive to roads, fields and crops.

The counties in which the animals may be killed all year are Lac qui Parle, Lyon, Brown, Lincoln, Murray, Jackson, Chippewa, Yellow Medicine, Redwood, Kandiyohi, Cottonwood, Nobles and Swift.

From the above it will be seen that Crow Wing county is not open but remains closed and that the muskrat ban has not been lifted here.

Study Club Celebrates

On Monday evening the members of the Study club forsook perusal of papers on civic improvements and the methods of governing cities, flung dignity to the winds, and had a good old fashioned "children's party". Staid mothers appeared in garb that would cause their children to wonder and teachers ceased to be pedagogues and returned to their long forgotten youth. The members of the club are exclusively feminine, but at the party there was no lack of the masculine, for there were Tommy and Peter, Billy, Little Lord Fauntleroy and an unpeppably spoiled Jimmy, who teased the girls and plagued Eugene and the shafled Cedric in curls. Susies and Marys were there in all the glory of curls and pinafores and flaunting hair ribbons.

The house was brave with hearts of all sizes and shapes, and Cupids shot arrows at all comers. Everyone developed a rare gift of poetry to laud his lady or lover to the skies in the manner of Shakespeare and Amy Lowell. The valentines were decidedly original and the occasion of much laughter. After they had been shared with the party, games and stunts, folk dances and fox trots kept everybody happy. The games were all decidedly juvenile in character, in keeping with the little boys and girls who sat on the floor or perched in undignity wherever space was found.

To children, the main thing at a party is the refreshment end. The committee had provided enough for a mob of real boys, so the evening ended with a table that groaned with food before the onslaught, but looked desolate with a stray sandwich and a lonely piece of cake when the attack was over. Everyone crunched contentedly at pop corn balls and went happily home.

Important Step Upward.

We learn an important secret of living when we cease to put off upon somebody or something the responsibility for our failure.—Exchange.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Lyceum Tonight

Elaine Hammerstein, appearing in a new Selznick Picture, "Whispers" by Marcus V. Connolly, will be the attraction at the Lyceum theatre tonight.

It is reported to be a powerful photo-drama of social pretensions and New York night life, with interest centering upon the so-called whisperers, who ruin lives and reputations with their scandal-mongering.

Miss Hammerstein portrays the role of a girl who has suffered from the activities of the whisperers, an innocent flirtation being magnified by them into such a manner as to involve her in a divorce suit.

"KISMET" PICTURE

Otis Skinner's Famous Play New a Screen Masterpiece With Actor As Star

There is nothing more indicative of the dawning of a greater era in motion-picture production, an era of artistic achievement which has at last placed the motion picture on a level with the best that the stage offers, than the gradual appearance in the silent drama of footlight artists who have heretofore regarded the motion-picture as something quite beneath their dignity.

Of paramount import is the appearance of Otis Skinner in "Kismet." The picture, as a super-special will be seen at the New Park theatre, starting tonight. It is a significant fact that Mr. Skinner was not so very long ago allied on the side of those who did not take the art of the screen at all seriously.

"While I do not think the screen will ever supersede the stage," remarked Mr. Skinner recently in discussing this question, "I firmly believe that the next few years will mark the appearance on the screen of many of the most prominent stage players of the century, for more than one reason.

"First of all, the screen has advanced to that point where it is no longer in the experimental stage; it is a medium for expression which has clamored for and won the recognition of those connected with things theatrical; and secondly, the stage actor by reason of his training is eminently fitted for screen work; he brings the temperament of the theatre to his work; he has the ability of adapting himself to any circumstance for the stage actor has received his education in the 'school of hard knocks.'

"My own brief experience in the realm of the silent drama has proven most delightful. The amazing amount of work required for the filming of a single scene, the care which the minutest detail receives, and above all the wide range which the camera allows for the development of a play, has been a revelation."

The Villain.
A rural exchange tells of an old woman being "knocked unconscious by a chauffeur, who then speeded away." We have our own opinion as to which was the unconscious party.—Boston Transcript.

Miss Jane Ayer of Riverton Successful in Class B Contest for Bread Baking at State Fair

Miss Jane Ayer of Riverton was presented with a medal as her prize won in the Class B contest for bread baking at the Minnesota State Fair in 1920, at the Riverton school last Friday.

The pupils were assembled and L. G. Roth, Crow Wing County Agricultural Agent gave a short talk on the value of the Boys and Girls work done in the State and the benefits accruing to youth from such work. With a strong emphasis on the fact that the medal represented a gift from the state in recognition of Miss Ayer's practical ability as a bread baker he handed over the medal to the winner.

AUTO LICENSES

The Senate Committee Agrees on An Average Tax of $15.41

The senate highway committee's subcommittee on taxation of motor vehicles has reduced the average tax from $18.00, the amount promised motor car owners during the campaign for the Babcock law, to $15.41. The minimum tax on passenger cars was fixed at $12 and the minimum on trucks at $15.

The tax rate will be 1 1/2 per cent of the value on passenger cars and 2 per cent on trucks.

Cars and trucks will be assessed as new for the first three years, when 25 per cent will be deducted from the value, and at the end of the fifth year another 25 per cent will be deducted, leaving the car taxable at 50 per cent of new value for the remainder of its life after the end of the fifth year.

INSTALLS NEW SCALE

Lakeside Lumber Company Adds One With an Automatic Registering Device

The Lakeside Lumber Co. went to a great deal of expense recently that they might assure safety and give satisfaction to their patrons. The truck scale they had been using while of the grade commonly used did not satisfy the management which felt that at some time the heavy trucks might cause it to drop. The old scale hung over the pit on hooks and the introduction of the heavy trucks threatened to put it out of commission.

The new heavy truck scale which is called the Fairbanks Registering Beam Heavy Truck Scale eliminates any danger. It is not hung by hooks but is supported by concrete beams and can carry any load that will be put upon it without any danger of dropping. It has a 10 ton capacity.

One feature that is modern and adds to the efficiency and accuracy of the business using it lies in the method by which the empty truck is weighed and the weight stamped on the ticket, and the weight of the loaded truck stamped on the same ticket avoiding any possible error which might occur by the clerk setting down the wrong figure. When the empty wagon or truck passes on to the scale a ticket is placed under the stamp and weight stamped on under "tare" and when the wagon or truck goes on loaded the ticket is stamped under "gross." By taking the "tare" from the "gross" the exact weight is seen on the ticket.

The scale is remarkably accurate. One day this week a customer brought goods weighing 75 pounds but was not convinced that the goods weighed that amount. The manager asked him to go and have them weighed on the city scales as a check on the new scale. The customer asked another man who was with him to step on the scale and Mr. Brusegaard said, "He weighs just over 150 pounds, the scale does not show any mark for less than five pounds, but I would say by the scale that he weighs 152 pounds. The customer then said, "Well, that is exactly what he weighs. I'm satisfied."

The new substantial and accurate scale cost the Lakeside Lumber Co. in the neighborhood of $850.

RAPIDS MEN TRIUMPH OVER BRAINERD FIVE

(St. Cloud Journal Press)
With 36 field baskets in 40 minutes of play, the Sauk Rapids basketball team last evening set a record of nearly a basket per minute, defeating the Brainerd team 72 to 9. Sparrow set the pace in throwing ringers, marking 19 on the score board. Schiborowski was a close second with a dozen ringers and H. Schave threw five.

Brainerd was unable to break thru the Rapids defense at any time and was unable to show a defense to stop the racing Rapidsites. Four field goals were tossed by Brainerd, 2 by Markham and 2 by McKinley. McKinley added 1 point on a free throw.

The line-ups:
Brainerd—Markham, rf; Peterson, lf; McKinley, c; Imgrund, rg; Mayo, lg.

Sauk Rapids—Schiborowski, rf; Sparrow, lf; H. Schave, c; J. Nahan, rg; H. Rickerts, lg.

Substitutes: C. Rickerts for Schiborowski, Putts for Mayo. Referee, Thompson. A large crowd attended the game despite the inclement weather.

American Legion Post News

Clarence Nelson Legion Post of Crosby, Minn., writes: "This post and the Legion post at Ironton are co-operating to care for the disabled boys in Deerwood Sanatorium. Members from each post visit them every week. Yesterday we took them to a matinee at the Peoples theatre, Crosby. They say they are well treated and have everything they wish for. They know that if anything goes wrong they can depend on us. They are our wounded buddies and we won't forget them."

The Gilbert Grafton Post of Fargo, N. D., has organized an association to lend money to North Dakota boys who need it while waiting for payment of their state bonus of $25 per month. Because the bonus money is being raised by a tax, it may take several years before all bonus claims are settled.

The Olwein, Iowa, Legion Auxiliary thought it held the record for the youngest auxiliary member when Miss Lovine Ladd was enrolled at the age of three minutes, but it's a doubtful question now, for the application and dues of Miss Jane Gannon of the Columbia, Ohio, auxiliary, were in two days before the young lady was born. Let's hear from some of our 165 Minnesota auxiliary units.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Two Fishermen Fined for Illegal Use of Fish House, Taking Fish For Commercial Purposes

Guy Pratt and Clyde James, of Merrifield, appeared in municipal court Friday morning before Municipal Judge Walter F. Wieland to answer to charges preferred by A. P. Cardle, game warden. They both pleaded guilty to the indictment to the effect that they "did unlawfully use a fish house for taking fish for other than domestic or personal use, to-wit: for commercial purposes, and that the fish so taken were pickered."

Each man was fined $20 plus the costs of the trial and the cost of serving the warrant which are to be equally divided between the two.

BAD HABITS GROW

Successive Stages in Husband's Carelessness.

Especially Is He Apt to Be Thoughtless of His Wife's Comfort as the Years Advance.

Man is a careless creature by nature and displays it in the stages of his life when he should be most careful. Perhaps his carelessness is only visible in its most aggravating form to his women folk.

The imputation that it is a constant vice would be resented, because a man, while he may grow more careful as he grows older in matters affecting his work, his health, possibly his appearance, fails to observe, self-centered creature as he is, that a careless attitude has arisen and become a habit in his married life.

Before marriage a man's every effort is to please the woman; afterward, to please himself, writes Lady de Frece, in the Paris Mail. There comes a time—some people call it the danger year—when cigars, clubs and company are first consideration with a man. He makes appointments and then tells his wife, where once he consulted his wife, and then made appointments.

Carelessness, that is all. But his wife, whose thoughts are at times vividly retrospective, is wounded on each and every occasion.

The blatant carelessness of the breakfast newspaper once started develops from first hasty glimpses at the news to grim, masticating silences. A husband becomes careless in his hours, careless in his caresses, careless in all his attentions to his wife.

Some men become careless about their clothes, particularly in the house. Anything will do for the house. That is an added slight to his wife and a flattery to himself. He implies that she is not worth the price of a new tie, or the donning of a collar, and that his own personality is potent against the effect of the baggiest of trousers.

Men never quite lose the little traits that marked them in their courtship days. They will still show a hundred and one little politenesses and considerations—but to other women than their wives. The effort to continue for years the same attentions to the one woman is too much for the average man. Where once he hastened to recover a fallen ball of wool he now allows his wife to carry the coat upstairs. Yet his manners outside his home may still be up to his old standard.

New High-Speed Generator.

The so-called Blomquist steam generator, lately put in operation in a Gothenburg mill, is described as a radically new type of high-speed steam generator. It is a boiler consisting of 11 pressed steel cylinders 12 inches in diameter and 8 feet in heated length, and these are rotated on ball bearings at the rate of 375 revolutions per minute. Feed water is injected at one end, the steam being taken out at the other. Centrifugal action spreads the water over the entire inner surface of the tubes, and the temperature of the steel is said to be thus kept below 300 degrees Centigrade. The capacity is 13,000 pounds of steam per hour at 50 atmospheres or 740 pounds per square inch. It is suggested that this generator may be added to increase the pressure in plants already established, and to provide steam for high pressure turbines.

Telephone Fluctuation.

A chart representing the telephone business of the average day shows that from midnight to 6 a. m. business is small and getting smaller; then as the retail stores and other "early" businesses begin to shake off their slumbers it starts to mount. As offices open and clear for the day's action the rate of increase gets faster and faster, until in the one hour between nine and 10 the calls are three times as numerous as during the 60 minutes immediately preceding. As the day's business gets into full swing, with everybody at work, calls continue to increase, though at a much less alarming pace; and the peak-load for the day is carried by the hour between 10 and 11, with 428,000 calls in New York City.

Mistake in Terms.

"Going to the party, Jack?"
"No, I haven't any lady."
"Come with me. I've got an extra."
"Who is she?"
"Miss Oldbud."
"She's not an extra; she's an early edition."—Boston Transcript.

Enjoy the Sun and Prolong Life.

Once upon a time people worshiped the sun. It would help all of us city folks, and country folks, if we acquired some of that respect for sunlight. Scientists may say this or that about the sun. They may agree or disagree with regard to certain theories of light, but the common everyday people are satisfied with the simple fact that sunlight is healing, that it breeds life, that it is the source of great beauty. People who live in the country do not appreciate sunlight, because they have so much of it. People who live in the city take the sun as a matter of course, a thing too obvious to think about, or else they forget it altogether.—Thrill Magazine.

Advertisers in the Daily Dispatch

Now get the same cut service as the big city dailies.

We have made arrangements with the Murray Illustrated Advertising Company of New York, for the furnishing of cuts for advertising purposes absolutely free to our patrons. This service is the best in America and has as clients some of the largest newspapers published.

Never before has it been possible for a paper to furnish this service without a considerable added outlay on the part of the advertiser, and even now it is only offered to the paper recognized by advertisers and readers as the leader in its section.

The Dispatch buys the cuts; the advertiser pays for the space in the paper at the same rate as for other advertising. Many of our patrons have already taken advantage of this offer and others are invited to do so.

We will be glad to explain the matter more fully
